Flies, Snakes Must Live or Play Will Fail

By Shirley Johnson

Glass jar in one hand and flypaper in the other, Don Houghton cautiously closed in on an unassuming fly, snatched it by the wing and announced, "Only three and a half jarfuls to go!"

As co-chairman of props for the fall University Theater production, "You Can't Take It With You," Don must collect flies and keep them alive through Nov. 3, the last performance. Objective—enough flies to keep the snakes in the fish aquarium happy.

Snakes, which are Grandpa Vanderhof's (Jerry Scheschy) pride and joy, present another problem to the props crew. One snake has been promised from an enthusiastic collector, and Don hopes to enlist the help of the biology department in securing the remaining two.

Salt, Pepper Shakers Gone

At this moment, Maureen Matthews, Don's counterpart, came flying across the Fieldhouse parking lot and reported that the second pair of salt and pepper shakers were missing. It seems someone on campus has the "bug" for salt and pepper shakers, which are a necessary prop for every scene in the three-act comedy.

She also reminded Don that the kittens, which serve as paper weights for Penny Sycamore's (Louise Senez) plays, were due to be fed in a half hour.

Don explained that he has been housing two kittens, purchased from the Humane Society, in a sand box in the back seat of his car. Awaiting their debut, the kittens have been feasting on milk and car upholstery and will be given tranquilizers to condition their nerves before each show.

Crocodile Located

Another member of the crew arrived reporting that a stuffed crocodile had been found, but no firecrackers as yet. It seems the firecrackers, which are manufactured in the play by Paul Sycamore (Ron Bojanski) and Mr. De Pinna (Jim Kaplan), aren't in season at the present time.

Also, the old typewriter, used by Penny in her play-writing efforts, is acting up again. Every time you hit the keys wrong, they fly off!

Maureen excused herself and explained that she had to check on the printing press, which Ed (Gary Wallace) runs to print up calling cards and daily family menus.

Goodwill Next Stop

Clutching flypaper and a jar of dead insects, Don hurried off to keep his appointment with the Goodwill Industries where he hoped to collect some old magazines and newspapers.

An antique shop was his next stop—here he hoped to secure some nude statues, a British flag, a Japanese flower bowl and a Daily Racing Form.

Each prop plays a significant role in "You Can't Take It With You," to be presented Nov. 1, 2 and 3 in the University Auditorium. Each is typical of the eccentric personalities living in the home of Grandpa Vanderhof—a home where you do as you like and no questions asked.

Homecoming ... of Course Is Theme For Upcoming Weekend Activities

Indians Looking For Big Victory After Loss, Tie

In looking forward to tomorrow's homecoming game with Emporia State, coach Al Caniglia says simply, "We're going to win."

The Indians are trying to bounce back from a loss and a tie in the last two ball games after sweeping the first three.

Caniglia said OU played last week's 20-20 tie with Fort Hays under "the kiss of death." He said that the penalties and little mistakes really hurt. Also contributing to the demise were seven crucial fumbles.

Caniglia also pointed out that several key players were playing with injuries that probably should have kept them on the bench. He singled out end Jim Kettle for special praise. He said that Jim's playing on a leg badly lacerated in practice was "just plain guts."

Injuries Might Hurt

All-America candidate Paul Blazeovich with a shoulder injury and Center Neil Galloway with a bad ankle also were not up to par. Quarterback Carl Meyers had an injured left hand, and Roger Sayers' leg was hurting.

The Coach said, though, that everybody but Galloway should be ready to go at top speed against Emporia, and the boys are anxious to play.

Emporia has the reputation of an unpredictable ball team. The visiting Hornets, 1-3-1 for the season, won their first game, lost two and tied one before dropping a 7-6 decision to Washburn last week.

Emporia boasts the Central Intercollegiate Conference's leading passer in quarterback Don Wrench. He has hit 30 of 88 passes for 553 yards. OU's Carl Meyers has hit 30 of 69 for 436 yards and is runner up.

Al Caniglia says the Indians have been knocked down, but they are definitely not out. Tomorrow is Homecoming, the Indians are out to avenge two stale games in a row. Let's back this team.

Coffee Hours Set Up For Next Mon., Tues.

The last two coffee hours sponsored by the Student Center for the various colleges will be held next Monday and Tuesday.

The College of Business Administration will be entertained Monday and the College of Applied Arts on Tuesday.

The coffee hour will be held from 3-5 p.m. in Room 112-A-B on the third floor of the Student Center Building.

Who Will Reign?

From top to bottom: Delores Brewer, Chi Omega, Midge Butters, Zeta Tau Alpha, Sue Hornish, Alpha Xi Delta, Carolyn Karre, Sigma Kappa and Anita Lee, Independent Students Association.

Festivities Open With Pep Rally; Basie at Dance

It's Homecoming ... of course! This is the theme for today's Homecoming festivities. Classes will be excused at 12:30 this afternoon for the activities.

At 12:30 a pep rally will be held in the Pep Bowl. Following the pep rally, all registered ears will begin assembling in Slimwood Park. Only those cars which have been registered and decorated will be allowed in the parade. The cars must follow a definite theme. A Snake Dance will be held on campus after the parade.

A "TGIF" (Thank Goodness It's Homecoming) Dance will be held in the Student Center OUampi Room immediately after the Snake Dance. Chuck Halda and the Cimarrons will play for the dance, which is sponsored by the Student Council.

Princess Announced

At 6 p.m. tonight the 1962 Homecoming Princess will be announced during the Council Fire in the Pep Bowl. Candidates for the title are: Sue Hornish, Alpha Xi Delta; Dolores Brewer, Chi Omega; Carolyn Karre, Sigma Kappa; Midge Butters, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Anita Lee, Independent Students' Association.

Count Basie and his orchestra will play for the Homecoming dance at Peony Park from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

During intermission the Homecoming Princess will be presented by Jim Leslie, president of student council and master of ceremonies. Dr. Milo Bail will present the Princess with a dozen red roses.

Also at the dance the winners of car decorations will be announced and ribbons will be presented.

Gift From Alumni

The Homecoming Princess will also receive a gift from the Alumni Association. The presentation will be made by Don Maseman, president of the Alumni Association Board of Directors.

Tomorrow the Omaha Indians will play Emporia at 2 p.m. in the stadium. Following the game, the Student Center Program Committee will present "The ET's" for dancing in the OUampi Room.

Pre-game get-togethers for the Alumni include a stag party for former OU athletes. Storz Brewery is hosting the party at the WOW Building at 8 p.m. tonight.

OU Wife's Club

At the same time, the wives of the former athletes, members of the University of Omaha Wife's Club, will attend a party at the Student Center. Dessert and coffee will be served from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. in room 312 A and B. The Wife's Club members will have use of all the Student Center facilities and a card party from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Following the Homecoming game, the Alumni Association is sponsoring a Pow-Wow Uarty at Schimmel's Indian Hills Inn.

A buffet dinner will be served from 6 to 9 p.m. Bill Reed's band will play for a dance from 9:30 to 12:30.

The Alumni have invited all bootstrappers and all members of the Concord Club to attend the party.

New Language Laboratory Is Used by 900 Students

A new foreign language laboratory has been added to the OU Department of Foreign Languages. The laboratory, room 318 in the Administration building, consists of 18 booths and 2 control panels.

Taped speeches of foreign representatives such as DeGaulle for the French classes will be available. Besides the commercial tapes that will be used, the instructors will make tapes when their classes need special drills.

The 900 foreign language students of the beginning and advanced courses will receive practice in oral comprehension, grammatical principles and dialogue.

"The Department of Foreign Languages is gratified for the improvement of the language laboratory giving new facilities to do better work for foreign language students," said Dr. Christopher Espinosa, head of the department.

The new language laboratory is an improvement over the limited opportunities of the audiovisual department in the library which was previously used. "Red" Schell is the technician for the language laboratory.

This recent addition will help the Foreign Language Department more effectively meet its aims of training foreign language experts and people for the foreign service.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Am I attending a university or a grade-school?

I was under the impression that Omaha University was an institute of higher learning—until election day rolled around.

Why must officers and the governing body of OU be elected on a popularity basis?

To me this is grade-schoolish! In elementary school elections, where in reality these offices mean little, this seems plausible—but it seems that for the governing body of a university, the qualifications for office should be higher than having a pretty face or being affiliated with a Greek organization.

I understand that campaigning on campus is limited to two posters for candidate and "word of mouth."—But why?

Why must students rely on posters and sorority sisters or fraternity brothers of the candidates to learn the qualifications of the candidate?

Speaking of sorority sisters and fraternity brothers! Many students have expressed objection to being "collared" outside of the buildings on campus. Some Greeks also have voiced objections to lowering themselves to this type of grade-school campaigning.

However, under the present set-up, they seem to have little alternative. In order to keep in the running, each candidate must post "colfarers" outside of the buildings to accost students and tell them whom to vote for—Why?

Why is there not provision made for each candidate to appear before the student body as a whole and state his platform and qualifications for holding such an important office?

Why does the student body not have an opportunity to hear from the candidates in person—instead of receiving only "second-hand" information?

Why cannot campaigning regulations be revised to raise campaigning on campus to an intelligent level?

In my opinion, until there are some revisions made in campaigning regulations, campaigning at OU will continue on a grade-school level.

And until enough students voice objections, and apply pressure, to the right people—the student council—campaigning regulations here will not change.

Reader's Theater tryouts have been scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, in Room 386 of the Administration Building. All students are invited to audition.

Flu shots are now available in the Student Health office. The shots are $1 each and those not having any should take a series of two; those who took them last year need just one shot.

OU Newman Club will meet at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, in St. Margaret Mary's Church Hall. Catholic students are invited.

Deadline for Grain of Sand is October 24th.

"Strangers When We Meet" with Kim Novak and Kirk Douglas will be shown Monday in the S. C. Ballroom at 7:30 p.m.

Survey Finds Few Bowling

The new bowling and vending machine area in the Student Center has been the object of a private survey the past week. The Food Service Department, which is in control of the new addition, ran a series of checks on the number of persons bowling and sitting in the new addition.

The checks were run from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday and Friday. These three hours supposedly being the three busiest of the day.

On Monday at 11 a.m. people sitting in the new addition totaled 42. Friday, at the same time, a total of 41 were in the vending area. At 12:00 Monday there were 78 people compared to 61 on Friday. 1 p.m. saw 44 on Monday compared to 20 on Friday in the new addition.

Amount of people bowling was a reversal of the two days compared. On Monday at 11:00, 12:00 and 1:00 there were no people bowling.

Friday saw three people bowling at 11:00, and three bowling at 12:00, and four at 1:00.

OU's most successful Red Cross Blood Drive collected 107 pints of blood. Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity won the organization competition with 35 pints to their credit. The drive was sponsored by the University Service Club, which is a reorganization of Alpha Phi Omega. The chairman of the drive was Fred Elsasser (on the right). Elsasser is presenting the trophy to Lambda Chi President Lyle McFarlin. Dr. Rene Hlavac, sponsor of the club, said that everyone who worked on the drive was extremely gratified by the results of the drive. Pi Kappa Alpha was second in the organization competition with 24 pints.

Biology Classes Are Overflowing

A master plan of the curriculum for the Biology Department was mapped three years ago and there is no expansion foreseen by department heads.

Day classes in the department are to the overflow point at this time.

Courses that have been added the past three years have come in the summer and night school curriculum.

A natural expansion has been in the supplies the biology department uses throughout the year. Examples are glassware and instruments used in the Labs.

Two new courses may be started next year. Plant Physiology and Micro Technique are the courses under consideration by the department.

UCS Contest Will Feature A Pan, Man

The Cutest Pan and the Ugliest Man Contest will be held the week of October 29 through November 2. The contest, sponsored by the University Service Club, is to collect money for the United Community Service Drive.

The contest will wind up with a dance on Friday afternoon, November 2, from 3 to 5 p.m. At the dance the Cutest Pan and the Ugliest Man will be announced, and trophies awarded.

The UCS drive at the University is set up on a competitive basis with a trophy to go to the campus organization that collects the most money for their candidates.

All campus organizations are eligible to enter. During the week of the contest a table with jars to hold the money each group collects will be set up in the Student Center.

Last years contest collected $1,730.88, Dr. Rene Hlavac said. This year with the goal of the UCS set at 4 million dollars, twice that of last years contest, the Service Club hopes to double last years contest figure at OU.

Champ Mosconi To Shoot Here

The world's pocket billiard champion will give an exhibition of his cue skill next Wednesday at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Student Center.

Willie Mosconi, who performed the trick shots in the movie "The Hustler," will devote his show to a demonstration of billiard fundamentals.

Billed as "one of the all-time greats of pocket billiard history," Mosconi has held the world's title in 15 out of the past 18 years.

One of his most spectacular feats was scoring a high run of 526, breaking his own world's exhibition record of 365.

Mosconi will demonstrate to OU students that billiards is in fact an easy game to learn and to play, well if strict attention is paid to fundamentals.

First Aiders Unhappy; Annie Dead

As "Annie" relaxed on a table in front of Ernie Gorr's First Aid class, one student was overheard remarking, "No matter what we do to this gal, we'll never revive her!"

"Annie," a life-size plastic model of a 10-year-old Norwegian girl, has been the "adopted" daughter of the Red Cross for ten months. Hailing from Norway, she is Dorothy Nelson's assistant in teaching mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Mrs. Nelson, Director of First Aid and Water Safety at the American Red Cross, and "Annie" visited Mr. Gorr's class last week.

At first, "Annie," who had received artificial respiration the night before, was a little uncooperative so the students merely twisted off her head and cleared the air passages.

Three thousand persons have been trained in the mouth-to-mouth respiration technique through "Annie's" efforts. She has demonstrated the method in Red Cross first aid and water safety classes and for numerous civic organizations.

Since mouth-to-mouth respiration must be given to someone who isn't breathing, Annie is an effective teaching aid.

Mrs. Nelson feels that if one person can be saved through this demonstration, no cost is too great.

Neil Galloway practices while others look on; this knowledge may someday enable them to save a life.

Bealac Will Speak Oct. 24 For Institute

The second lecture of the 17th Annual Institute of World Affairs will feature Willard L. Bealac. He will discuss "Communism and the U. S. in Latin America" October 24th at 8:15 p.m. in the University auditorium.

Mr. Bealac was most recently the U. S. Ambassador to Argentina, and has served Chile, Cuba, Colombia and Paraguay in a similar capacity. Serving as a career diplomat with forty years' experience in Latin America, Mr. Bealac has held posts in nine American republics.

Served in Tampico, Mex.

Following graduation from the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University in 1921, Mr. Bealac served in Tampico, Mexico, and was then transferred to Arica in northern Chile as consul. In 1927 he was sent to Port-au-Prince, Haiti, as third secretary and also performed concurrent duties in the adjacent Dominican Republic.

Other posts include five years in Nicaragua, three years in the U. S. State Department in Washington as assistant chief of the Division of Latin American Affairs; a term as first secretary at Havana, Cuba; and counselor to the Embassy in Havana, and a similar role in the U.S. Embassy at Madrid, Spain in 1941.

Bealac in Paraguay

Succeeding posts include appointments as Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to Paraguay in 1944 followed by an ambassadorial post in Columbia and Chile. In 1956 Mr. Bealac was appointed Ambassador to Buenos Aires.

Ambassador Bealac retired from the diplomatic service in 1960. Until the end of May, 1962 he has been serving as Deputy Commandant for Foreign Affairs at the National War College.

Twenty Make Drill Squad

Twenty men survived the final screening this week for the AFROTC Sabre's drill team.

The new members were selected from a group of 50 hopeful candidates by Art Simon, Sabre Commander, Robert Iakisch, Sabre Executive Officer, and the six returning Sabres.

The candidates were judged during six days of drilling on marching ability, military bearing and poise.

The Sabres' first performance this year will be in the homecoming parade this afternoon.

The Sabre Color Guard that has been performing for home football games includes: Gary Hannibal, Milo Samson, Richard Stenzel, and Thomas Morrison.

The new Sabres are: Dennis Anderson, Glenn Anderson, William Applegate, Raymond Bock, Chris Brown, Edwin Ervin, Jon Floth, Thomas Hiley, Larry Kenny, Walter Link, and Richard McMullen.

Also chosen were: Thomas Morrison, Ed Neel, Norman Nelson, Kenneth Piper, John Ready, James Shipley, Lyle Sohm, Joseph Thill and John Teideman.

The returning Sabres include: Gary Hannibal, Milo Samson, George Schabloske, Richard Stenzel, John Stolley, and Spencer Taylor.

Rifle Team Plans To Go Big Time

The Omaha University Rifle Team is an all-school team this year for the first time in the rifle team's history.

This year the rifle team was switched from an AFROTC function to an intramural affair, and tryouts were open to the whole school.

In previous years, rifle team members had to be enrolled in ROTC.

Marine bootstrappers Stephen Kaster and Ron Keiser were selected with six men in the ROTC program to comprise this year's team.

Staff Sergeant Richard Grim of the AFROTC department is serving as coach.

The team's first match will be a pre-season meet with Offutt Air Force Base early next month.

The team will then move into intercity league competition, consisting of 12 to 14 matches through the year.

The team will also fire in the National Rifle Association's intercollegiate sectional tournament, and the University of Nebraska's invitational tournament.

The other members of the rifle team are: Dean Berk, team captain; Bill Caster, Rudy Duda, Chris Gugas Jr., Fred Vanaček and Richard Van Ackeren.

Phi Chi Theta Rushes at Tea

Phi Chi Theta, national business women's honorary, held their annual rush tea Wednesday, Oct. 17 in the Student Center.

Officers for the coming year have been elected. They are: Charlene Munson, president; DeDe Erpelding, vice-president and pledge trainer; Lenora Connolly, secretary; Jane Burbridge, treasurer, and Jean Lindens-truth, historian.

Women with a 2.0 average in the college of business administration may still join Phi Chi Theta. For additional information, contact Charlene Munson.

Chi O Pledge Class Elects Iverson Prexy

The Chi Omega pledge class has chosen its officers.

They are: Julie Iverson, president; Kathy Brady, vice-president; Carol Buntz, secretary, and Mary Kay Boyd, treasurer.

Tompsett Gains Vote; 26 Ballots Ineligible

Richard Tompsett was declared the 1962 Typical Freshman Boy at Omaha University following "at least three" recounts of the ballots.

Randy Nielsen of Sigma Phi Epsilon was announced as the winner during a freshman mixer Oct. 10 in the Student Center.

The Student Council officially acknowledged the part 32-n u44 change with a notice on a bulletin board which read in part:

"This change of winners from Randy Nielson to Rich Tompsett was due to a later disqualification of several ballots cast by ineligible voters."

Without fanfare, the winner's trophy was presented to Tompsett, a member of Pi Kappa Alpha.

There was no change in the election of the Typical Freshman Girl. Kathy Dayton, Alpha Xi Delta, remains the title holder.

"The change is no reflection on the two candidates or their organizations," said Donald Pflasterer, dean of student personnel.

"It was as much of a surprise to them as to anyone," he said.

"Randy . . . gentleman"

President Milo Bail said: "I feel sorry about the candidate who originally won. He was a gentleman in every way. It takes a big man to accept defeat after it appeared he had won."

"It was unfortunate that it happened. But in the enthusiasm of the election, you can understand that people would do things which they wouldn't ordinarily do."

There were 617 persons voting; 26 were ineligible, Dean Pflasterer said.

"The closeness" of the election prompted Dean of Women Elizabeth Hill and Student Council President Jim Leslie to conduct a recount, he said.

It was then, he said, the 26 bogus votes were discovered.

The phony votes were those of persons who were not eligible to participate in the typical freshman election, he said.

"After at least three recounts," he said, it was learned that Tompsett was the winner.

The number of votes each candidate received in the election was not revealed.

"OU school elections are conducted in as professional a manner as those on any other campus," he said.

"The typical freshman election was conducted very well," he said, "and that is the reason the ineligible votes were discovered."

Collar Tabs: In . . . or Out?

Walking down the halls in either of the main buildings, you may be wondering why all the girls (or older women if you are along in years) are looking at you.

I have found the answer. If you are not in a fraternity and the girl looking at you is not in a sorority it may be the tab collar on the shirt you are wearing.

Several years ago the mode of dress, in the shirt line anyway, was the button down collar or the collar with the stick pin through it. But now you either wear a shirt with a tab collar or you are socially ostracized. Except maybe for stopping at a local pub for a few after class hooks.

There is another ne wfad that has seemingly caught on: wearing a safety pin in the lapel of your sport coat.

Red tennys out? Where or how far can these fads go?

Let's look at a possibility: How about girls wearing wing tip shoes or brogans instead of their red tennis shoes or red high heels.

Ridiculous! How about the men wearing blouses instead of their tab collar shirts or nylons instead of their white socks with elastic tops. Again you say, "utterly ridiculous." Think about it.

Well, now that I have looked at these foolish fads I see that I have a class so I had better put on my powdered wig and get there.

Students Study French Culture

The French Club will meet Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in room 315 S.C. to elect officers.

The theme this year is a study of the culture of the French people.

The French Club's new sponsor is Miss Daryl Olson.

Plans are being made to attend the Alliance Francaise, a French club for Omahans.

Anyone who is taking French now or has taken French may join.

'D' Grades Are Not Acceptable Towards a Degree for Transfer

by Leo Meidlinger

The question is often asked by students who transfer here why they can't transfer grades of D towards a degree when the same grade is transferred toward their academic standing and cumulative grade point average.

Donald Pflasterer, dean of student personnel, explained it this way:

"The student who is transferring must be penalized for his past academic sins.

"When a person who transfers here is on academic probation at the school he is transferring from, he will probably be admitted to this school on academic probation."

Academic probation is determined by the Committee on Academic Standing. There are 18 members on the committee.

"Individually"

"Each case is handled individually, and there is no predominant school or type of people involved," the dean said.

"When a person is on academic probation he is not allowed to participate in any extra curricular activities.

"This means he is not allowed to hold office, play in the band except for credit, participate in dramatics, debate, or play intramural or intercollegiate sports," Pflasterer stated.

"There are persons, however, on academic probation that are allowed to participate in extra curricular activities.

"The committee allows them to because their semester average or their cumulative average is so close that the committee feels it would be unfair not to," the dean added.

A new rule has been added to the general catalog. It states:

"All students who have been enrolled at the University during the second semester, 1961-1962, and who is eligible for participation in extra-curricular activities during 1962-1963 is to be governed by the "normal progress" rule, a special eligibility committee appointed by the President of the University shall be empowered to determine the eligibility of said students."

Probation Status?

"A student who fails to get off academic probation in the semester required has to stay out at least one semester. If he has reached the requirements of being a senior he often times is asked to stay out a full year," the dean said.

Academic Probation is defined in the University's general catalog as:

"A status invoked whenever the academic performance of the student gives indication that he is falling significantly below the rate of progress expected of his classification. It is a period during which the student is given an opportunity to determine for himself whether he should continue his present college program unchanged."

"Academic probation is invoked on persons in the following manner," the general catalog states:

"Freshman — any semester average falling below 1.2 or the cumulative average falls below 1.5 at the time he has earned 12-26 hours of credit.

"Sophomore — any semester average falling below 1.6 or the cumulative average falls below 1.8 at the end of the sophomore year.

"Junior — any semester average falling below 1.8 or the cumulative average falls below 2.0 at the end of the junior year.

"Senior — any semester average falling below 2.0 or the cumulative average falls below 2.0 at the end of the senior year.

Special — any semester average or the cumulative falls below that required of a regular student with equivalent credit hours.

"Application for reinstatement must be made to the Director of Admissions on the required form and in turn each application will be submitted to the Faculty Committee on Academic Standing for final action," the catalog states.

The catalog continues: "The committee may or may not grant permission for re-registration; however, should conditions warrant, the committee may grant permission for the student to re-register on a probationary basis."

Purpose Is Twofold For Testing Bureau

The Bureau of Industrial Testing and Institutional Research serves two purposes, according to Dr. William E. Jaynes, Director.

"First it supports the graduate program in Industrial Psychology. It is a place for the interns to work and gain experience.

Second, it provides a way in which the University of Omaha can serve the people of Omaha," he said.

The work of the Bureau falls into two major categories, service and research. The service is offered on a cost basis to Omaha business firms and institutions. The research is designed to lead to publishable material. It is supported primarily by grants.

These two major categories each have two sub-divisions, industrial and institutional.

Industrial service often takes the form of appraisal of people for high-level management or sales jobs. The applicant for the job spends six to seven hours taking psychological tests and then has a one hour interview with a psychologist.

This phase of the Bureau's activity also involves helping people set up testing programs in their own offices. A complete file of sample tests used in industry is maintained for this purpose.

IBM Scores Tests

An IBM test scoring machine is an important factor in institutional service. It is used to score tests for the faculty and other educational institutions in Omaha.

Industrial research has involved contract work for the U. S. Army in the form of statistical analysis of data from the Army Medical Research Laboratory at Fort Knox, Ken., pertaining to the performance of enlisted men driving a truck on a test course. (Like Teen Age Road-E-O.) It is hoped that this will produce new knowledge concerning driving skills.

In the future research which will draw on the industrial service is planned. This will involve a follow-up on the testing which has been done in appraising people for key sales and supervisory positions.

A statistical analysis of instructor ratings is in progress by institutional research. Three hundred fifty ratings of instructors, which are completely anonymous as far as the student who did the rating and the instructor who was rated, are being used in this project. From this work it is hoped that the rating form can be simplified.

Applicants Tested

Applicants for nursing schools also are tested by the Bureau before they are enrolled in the schools.

Members of the Bureau are: Dr. W. E. Jaynes, director; Dr. G. L. Erickson, assistant director; Miss V. Olson, Administrative assistant; Mrs. Kay Wallace, part time clerk-typist; and two graduate interns, Rod Rossee and James Koller.

New Officers Named Wed.

The results of all-school elections were announced late Wednesday evening. Freshman student council representatives are: Patti Matson, Kay Borchman, Rich Tompsett and Randy Nielsen. Freshman class officers are: Jim Grasso, president; Den-nie Anderson, vice-president; Susan Tucker, secretary.

dent; Earlene Timm, secretary.

Officers for the senior class are: Dennis Graves, president; Ed Pechar, vice-president, and Marilyn Spear, secretary.

Results of ballots cast for Homecoming Princess will be announced tonight at 6 p.m. in the Pep Bowl.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Agathe Fusco.

Agathe, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A", was awarded her B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, her M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and her D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was hers. Her intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was she happy? The answer, alas, was no. Agathe—she knew not why—was miserable, so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, she was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that she flung herself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by a liberal arts major named R. Twinkle Plenty came by with his yoyo. He noted Agathe's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said R. Twinkle.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Agathe peevishly.

"All right, I will," said R. Twinkle. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche. I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant, gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Agathe shook her head.

"Have you ever watched a sunset? Written a poem? Smoked a Marlboro Cigarette?"

Agathe shook her head.

"Well, we'll fix that right now!" said R. Twinkle and gave her a Marlboro and struck a match.

She puffed, and then for the first time in twelve or fifteen years, she smiled. "Wow!" she cried. "Marlboros are a fun thing! What flavor! What filter! What pack or box! What a lot to like! From now on I will smoke Marlboros, and never have another unhappy day!"

"Hold!" said R. Twinkle. "Marlboros alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Agathe. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said R. Twinkle.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Agathe. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said R. Twinkle and removed it.

"Land sakes, what a relief!" said Agathe, now totally happy, and took R. Twinkle's hand and led him to a Marlboro vendor's and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Agathe is a perfectly fulfilled woman, both intellect-wise and personalitywise. She lives in a darling split-level house with R. Twinkle and their 17 children, and she still keeps busy in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, she became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, she was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and she published a best-selling book called I was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

Dayton's Win WRA Tennis Competition

Jean and Kathy Dayton defeated Karen Sedoris and Donna Anderson in Women's Recreation Association Tennis competition with two 6-2 wins.

Teddy Backstrom and Sarah Edwards are scheduled to face Jan Seaman and Claudia May in the first rounds. Teams advancing to the second round as a result of byes are Carolyn Grothe and Arlene Baker, Linda Lyman and Oksana Worbock, Donna Taylor and Katie Hinchman, Marcia Ray and Kathy Jorganson, Judy Irvin and Mary Kay Kuhn, and Nancy Lunsvord and Betty Bluvus.

All first round competition must be finished by Oct. 23rd. Second round competition will find Grothe and Baker vs. Lyman and Worbock, Dayton and Dayton vs. Ray and Jorganson, and Irvin and Kuhn vs. Lunsvord and Bluvus.

Taylor and Hinchman will face the winners of the Backstrom-Edwards vs. Seaman-May match. All second round competition must be completed by Oct. 30th.

Scholarships Given

Three World-Herald scholarships in retailing have been awarded. Receiving $250 scholarships each are Warren Hawn, jr.; Carol Fry, jr. and Sharon Lohmann, jr.

Volleyball Starts

Volleyball competition began this week as the Women's Recreation Association opened its 15 game schedule. Chi Omega defeated Alpha Xi Delta with scores of 15 to 0 and 15 to 6 in the opening game Tuesday night.

Sigma Kappa met Zeta Alpha on Wednesday night and Unaffiliated clashed with ISA on Thursday.

The volleyball games are scheduled to start at 4:00 p.m. in the Women's WQ. Any team will suffer a forfeit if they fail to begin play by 4:15. An official team must begin play with six players, but play may continue with no less than five players.

A match consists of the best two-out-of-three game series. Each game lasts eight minutes or until one team scores 15 points with a two point advantage, whichever occurs first. No assists are allowed in serving and no player may set the ball up to herself.

Next week Alpha Xi Delta will meet Sigma Kappa on Tuesday evening; ISA will face Zeta Tau Alpha on Wednesday evening; and Unaffiliated will square off with Chi Omega on Thursday night.

Golf Deadline

The Women's Recreation Association first round Golf deadline is Nov. 1st. The four matches scheduled are July Irvin vs. Judy Kostka; Dede Erpelding vs. Barb Schweiger; Donna Taylor vs. Jan Moravee; and Jan Paulsen vs. Jan Seaman.

Like People? Join People-to-People Sports Committee

Any organization or individual on campus interested in helping other people are urged to join the People-to-People Sports Committee, headed in the Omaha area by Mr. Ernie Gorr.

Mr. Gorr explained that the group, which is international, is set up to help other peoples all over the world.

Projects such as collecting usable sports equipment and sending textbooks to needy areas are part of the program. The People-to-People program is not just limited to sports. Fields such as education are included.

Sports organizations have undertaken such projects as touring other countries, holding athletic events in needy areas and exchanging players from other countries for athletic events.

Anyone interested is urged to contact Mr. Gorr in the A.A. building.

George Jesko—Caniglia Calls Him Team's Most Under-rated Player

By Ken McEwen

"I think we'll bury everybody from here on out if we play the way we are capable of playing." This quote could have come from one of Premier Krushchev's speeches, but instead it came from OU footballer George Jesko. George was referring to the capabilities of the team in the future if they play the brand of ball that he knows they can.

Jesko thought that the team had under-estimated Fort Hays a 2.6 accumulative average.

"Moo" recalls one of the most thrilling times in his football career when he made four consecutive tackles on a goal line stand on the four yard line. This illustrates his zest for contact in the sport.

This incident happened while he was in high school in Wilmerding high school, Wall, Pennsylvania. He was on the all district team while at Wilmerding and received honorable mention for the All Western Pennsylvania team. "Moo" also played two years of varsity basketball and one year of varsity baseball there.

El Dorado Grad

He decided to attend El Dorado Junior College in Kansas after completing high school. From there he followed squad member Paul Blazewich to OU. "Blaz" had followed Jim Herran who had also attended the junior college and came to OU. Herran was an OU footballer who led many of the Eastern athletes to Omaha.

George lives with Cliff Holstelle and Blazewich at Cliff's home at 4717 Meridith.

The guy who Coach Al Caniglia has called "the most under-rated man on the team," likes all kinds of sports. He especially likes to hunt and fish. This is a reason why "Moo" likes Nebraska, because of the many game birds.

The friendly Jesko told of how he once had "buck fever" while hunting deer in the East. He said that he started shaking and sweating just before he fired a shot at a deer that was walking at close range. Luckily, a companion and he kept firing until they finally downed him.

Jenkins, Flack Head Sigma Pledge Class

The Sigma Kappa pledge class has announced its officers for the coming semester. They are: Doris Jenkins, president; Linda Flack, vice-president; Carol Moynihan, secretary; Silvija Vecbastiks, treasurer; Nancy Metz, social and activities chairman, and Linda Crider, scholarship chairman.

Children receive the biggest percentage of benefits from your contribution to the 1962-63 Red Feather-Red Cross fund drive. Help those youngsters who are not as fortunate as you are—the homeless, the mentally and physically handicapped.

a little in last week's tie ball-game. He said that OU was better man-for-man than Hays physically but that the mental attitude was not what it should have been. He rates his teammates as one of the best small college teams in the nation when they are up for a ball-game.

For those not too familiar with the team, George is the left tackle wearing number 65 that smothers the offense on a great many of the plays. His 6 foot 2 inch frame carries 215 pounds, this in itself is enough to worry opponents.

Gotta have Heart

One teammate tells of how George desires more action after playing both offense and defensive sets of plays even though he is near exhaustion. He said that Jesko has so much heart in the game it is unbelievable.

"Moo," as George is known by many of the students, is a senior majoring in biology with

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing importance.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Air Force Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York 1, New York.

OU vs. Huskers for Attention; Indian Fans Cheer NU Score

By Bob O'Neal

Interviews are always fun. Immediately following the Fort Hays game last week we cornered a typically dressed, average football fan. He carried a transistor radio. His sticky hand trembled with excitement. The glassy stare in his caramel brown eyes indicated that he was obviously addicted to candy apples—a football game hazard.

Pardon me, have you just watched the ball game.

"Yes, I'm on my way to the Student Center."

Dancing?

"No, it's just a short walk."

I see. Well, how did you feel when we pulled that game in the final seconds?

"Great! That Stuewe is terrific."

Stuewe?

"Dennis Stuewe, the Nebraska halfback. He scored in the last few seconds to beat North Carolina State, 19-14."

I had reference to the Fort Hays-Omaha U game. We scored in the last few seconds to tie Fort Hays, 20-20.

"Was that the score? I didn't watch much of the game. I was busy listening to the Nebraska-State game."

You mean people were listening to the Nebraska game and not paying attention to our game?

"I'd say a new FCC record was set for transistor radios in an under 5000 seat stadium. It's weird, Fort Hays scores on an 80 yard run and everybody is cheering like mad—Nebraska just scored."

That's terrible. What can we do to stop people from listening to their radios?

"Install closed circuit television so they can watch the Nebraska game."

We had a good crowd. Do you think they were disappointed?

"I would say so. The hot dogs are cold and the pop corn is stale. The only thing that makes the day worthwhile is the candy apples. I'd offer you one but this is my last."

I understand. Now tell me, what most impressed you about our team—I mean Omaha U?

OU Hockey Players, Here's Your Chance

In just a few weeks it will be hockey time here in Omaha. Next Tuesday, October 23rd, the Omaha Amateur Hockey Association will hold try-outs for the 1962-'63 amateur season at Ak-Sar-Ben ice rink.

These try-outs will be held on two consecutive Tuesdays with two sessions each night. Everyone must attend both try-outs whether they are veterans of the league or newcomers to the sport.

On October 23rd, all prospective players whose last name begins with letters A through K should report to the rink at 6:45 p.m. and those whose last name begins with L through Z should report at 8:45 p.m. on the same night. Each player must have his own skates and stick but no other equipment will be needed.

The try-outs will be supervised by members of the "Omaha Knights" hockey team and anyone who cannot make the first Tuesday session must contact league officials at the ice rink on Tuesday, October 23, 1962.

There will be a small fee of fifty cents also. Those scoring high enough to make the league will be assigned to one of four teams: Storz, Jim Murphy's, Oriental Trading or Mutual of Omaha. Rounding out the league is Sioux City Eagles who will play their games on a home and home basis.

Many University of Omaha students participated in the league last year. Since all team positions are open, the Indians should be well represented in the league this season.

"The way they ignored the other team—especially on pass defense."

We could sense our subject was not taking our post game wrap-up seriously and we hastened to tell him: I think you're putting me on.

"No, I'm putting you off. I don't care for football at all. The only reason I came was to help put up a sign supporting the team—Omaha U, that is—and to see the band uniforms. By the way, which one was the Omaha band?"

They were sitting right in the middle of the Omaha U cheering section.

"You mean Omaha actually has a cheering section."

Most certainly, didn't you hear that cheer go up on that 80 yard Fort Hays touchdown run?

"Of course, but I must be running . . . isn't that the Student Center straight ahead?"

That's right, the one with the University of Nebraska pennants flying from it.

Indians Score With 12 Seconds Remaining; Meyers Kicks Point to Gain Tie With Hays

By Mike Moran

Omaha U's hopes for a conference championship went damp last Saturday as the Indians were tied, 20-20, by Fort Hays State.

The Indians looked as if they had regained their form as Louie Miloni took the opening kickoff and returned it for a touchdown. However, a clipping infraction nullified the run and the Omahans had to battle to get a 7-0 lead at the half.

Fort Hays tied in the third quarter but the Indians stormed back with Wayne Backes scoring from the eight to put Omaha back in front at 13-7.

The Tigers scored moments later on a sustained drive, and a pressure packed try for the point just missed and the score was knotted at 13-13.

Neither team could mount a drive early in the fourth quarter and it looked as if the 13-all count might stand.

Then suddenly Fort Hays sprung Bob Lee for 80 yards up the middle and the Tigers led, 20-13.

The Indians then came to life and managed to put their sputtering offense in gear long enough to move to the Hays' 20 with about a half minute to go.

Touchdown

With only 12 seconds to go, Carl Meyers hit Paul Blazevich in the end zone for the score and then booted an all-important extra point to give the fortunate Indians the tie.

Several Omaha players as well as several Tigers were ejected for fighting. The spirit off the field was at times much above that on the field.

Louie Miloni and Lee Milner carried the offensive load for the Indians while diminutive Jerry Parker, the conference's leading rusher, led the Tigers.

Roger Sayers did not suit up for the Indians and his absence was sorely felt. Omaha has not been able to score from more than 15 yards out since Rocket has been sidelined.

His presence in the Indian lineup against Emporia State would be a great boost to OU if he is healthy.

Fort Hays again exploited the chief Omaha weakness with 105 yards through the air on only five passes.

For the second straight game the Indians missed several scoring opportunities from inside the 15 yard line which would have given them the game. Last week against Northern Illinois, Omaha had the ball on first and goal from the four and could not get the score.

Pall Mall Presents~ GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

CAMPUS TYPE III

Don't let this girl's costume fool you. She's not really a mad scientist. She's a girl—a real, live girl. It's just that she has to prove something—to herself and to her family.

She has to prove that she has a brain and that, if she ever has to compete with men on their own terms, she can do it—and win. But she really doesn't want to compete with men. In her heart she wants to attract men and eventually, marry one. The girl watcher should not let this situation disturb him, however.

If the girl is watchable, she should be watched, no matter what her motives or ambitions may be. The same thing is true of a cigarette. If it's smokeable, it should be smoked—and Pall Mall is the most smokeable of all!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

For the girl who's got almost everything

This latest creation by the House of Valjean marks a radical departure from the traditional line of accessories for m'lady. Done in chic, ultra-conservative white, the material falls in natural, classic lines. Mr. Valjean readily admits that this fashion first restricts activity. It was, he says with a charming Gallic shrug, designed to do just that. According to Jean, the girl who really has everything must, of course, have a savings account at the U.S. National. Because she does, she has no need for M. Valjean's accessory—she can afford a complete wardrobe of the latest fall fashions. Her hard-earned savings are not only safe, but growing day by day with instant interest. His item, he explained, is specifically designed for the girl who has everything but a U.S. National savings account. Tears welled in his eyes as he considered her plight—chic fashions in every window—frustration in every newspaper. We agreed that it was more than even the strongest resolve could withstand. "But," says Valjean, "ees simple!" She dons his creation and "Voilà!"—no more frustration. After the show, idle curiosity led us to ask Jean what he called his new and functional accessory. With a scornful look, he replied, "Quel question! I call eet a blindfold—what elsel!"
